Item 2 – Material Changes

Since our last annual amendment filed in March 2017, we have updated this brochure to disclose that Raffa Wealth Management will assume standing authority to move money from a client's account to a third-party account. See Item 15 – Custody for more information.

In addition, we have clarified or expanded on the following areas:

- Clarified that the specific form of financial planning that we offer is limited to retirement income planning. We do not otherwise provide holistic or comprehensive financial planning services. (Item 4 - Advisory Business and Item 5 - Fees and Compensation)
- Expanded the description of potential investment consulting services offered to nonprofit organizations. (Item 4 - Advisory Business and Item 5 - Fees and Compensation)
- Clarified the distinction between the firm's mutual fund selection process for retirement clients and portfolio management clients. (Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss)
- Clarified the limited use of third-party managers and the circumstances that would lead to recommending and researching third-party managers. (Item 4 - Advisory Business and Item 5 - Fees and Compensation)
- Reduced the portfolio management fee schedule to reflect the firm's standard fee schedule. (Item 4 - Advisory Business and Item 5 - Fees and Compensation)
- Added a description of the role of RWM's External Investment Committee (EIC) including the frequency of full group meetings. The EIC did not meet as a group in 2017. ((Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss)

We will ensure that you receive a summary of material changes, if any, to this and subsequent disclosure brochures within 120 days after our fiscal year ends. Our fiscal year ends on December 31 so you will receive the summary of material changes, if any, no later than April 30 each year. At that time, we will also offer a copy of the most current disclosure brochure. We may also provide other ongoing disclosure information about material changes as necessary.

Item 4 – Advisory Business

Raffa Wealth Management is an investment advisor registered with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) and a corporation formed under the laws of the State of Maryland and domiciled in Washington, D.C. Advisor has been registered with the SEC as an investment advisor since July 2005.

Raffa Wealth Management is owned by the following individuals:

- Dennis Gogarty – Managing Member and Chief Compliance Officer
- Thomas J. Raffa – Member
- Steven Heger – Member

General Description of Primary Advisory Services

The following are brief descriptions of Raffa Wealth Management’s primary services. A detailed description of our services is provided in Item 5 – Fees and Compensation so that clients and prospective clients can review the services and description of fees in a side-by-side manner.

Investment Supervisory Services - Raffa Wealth Management provides advisory services in the form of Investment Supervisory Services. Investment Supervisory Services involve providing clients with comprehensive portfolio management and continuous and on-going supervision over client accounts. This means we will continuously monitor a client’s account and make trades in client accounts when necessary.

Qualified Plan Consulting Services - Raffa Wealth Management provides several advisory services for corporate retirement plans, separately or in combination. While the primary clients for these services will be pension, profit sharing, and 401(k) plans, we will also offer these services, where appropriate, to individuals and trusts, as well as charitable organizations.

Investment Consulting Services – Raffa Wealth Management provides Investment Consulting Services in several ways.

- We provide investment consultations on accounts not managed or maintained by our Firm. This service is similar to Investment Supervisory Services in that we will provide specific investment recommendations to clients; however, unlike Investment Supervisory Services, we will not have trading authorization or direct access to the accounts being reviewed under this service.
- We provide investment consulting to the staff and volunteers at nonprofit organizations to support their effort to meet their fiduciary responsibility related to the management and oversight of their nonprofits investment reserves or endowments. These consulting engagements typically involve a process to develop or make recommendation to change their investment policies and procedures.
- Other consulting engagements for nonprofits may involve presentations intending to educate nonprofit staff or volunteers on a variety of investment management or policy topics as well as providing assessments of an existing investment advisors performance, fees, or performance evaluation reports.

In all cases where RWM is solely providing Investment Consulting Services, all trade implementation under this service is the responsibility of the client.

Retirement Income Planning – While RWM provides Retirement Income Planning services to clients that are individuals or couples as part of the overall portfolio management process, RWM does not charge separately for this service. The fee for this service, which is provided on a client by client basis, is included in the fee related to RWM's Investment Supervisory Services.

Limits Advice to Certain Types of Investments. Raffa Wealth Management provides investment advice on the following types of investments.

- No-Load (i.e. no trading fee) and Load-Waived (i.e. trading fee waived) Mutual Fund Shares
- Exchange-listed securities (i.e. stocks)
- Fixed income securities (i.e. bonds)
- Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs)
- Money market sweeps and funds
- Certificates of deposit
- Municipal securities
- United States government securities

RWM's advice is primarily focused on open-ended mutual funds and exchanged traded funds that invest in the security types outlined above. We may utilize unaffiliated third party investment managers when managing client portfolios and therefore will provide advice on other investment managers.

We do not provide advice on foreign issue, warrants, commercial paper, variable life insurance products, options, futures, and interests in partnerships investing in real estate or oil and gas interests.

Please refer to each program's description at Item 5 – Fees for additional details regarding the types of investments recommended specific to the program. Please also refer to Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss for more information.

Tailor Advisory Services to Individual Needs of Clients

Our services are always provided based on the individual needs of each client. This means, for example, that you are given the ability to impose restrictions on the accounts we manage for you, including specific investment selections and sectors. We work with each client on a one-on-one basis through interviews and/or questionnaires to determine the client's investment objectives and suitability information.

When managing client accounts through the Firm's Investment Supervisory Services program, we may manage a client's account in accordance with one or more investment models. When client accounts are managed using models, investment selections are based on the underlying model and we do not develop customized (or individualized) portfolio holdings for each client. However, the determination to use a particular model or models is always based on each client's individual investment goals, objectives and mandates.

Client Assets Managed by Raffa Wealth Management

As disclosed on Form ADV Part 1A, Item 5.F., the amount of client's assets managed by Raffa Wealth Management totaled $715,904,862 as of 1/15/2018. $681,884,260 is managed on a discretionary basis and $34,020,602 is managed on a non-discretionary basis. In addition, we oversee and provide advice on approximately $338,267,619 through our consulting services. In total as of 1/15/2018 RWM provides management and consulting services for $1,054,172,480 in assets.

Item 5 – Fees and Compensation

In addition to the information provide in Item 4 – Advisory Business, this section provides additional details regarding our Firm’s services along with descriptions of each service’s fees and compensation arrangements.

Investment Supervisory Services

Raffa Wealth Management provides investment supervisory services defined as giving continuous investment advice to a client and making investments for the client based on the individual needs of the client. Through this service, Raffa Wealth Management offers a customized and individualized investment program for clients. Various investment strategies are provided through this service; however, a specific investment strategy and investment policy is crafted for each client to focus on the specific client’s goals and objectives (See Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss for more information).

Our service is implemented on a discretionary or non-discretionary basis as agreed to with the client (See Item 16 – Investment Discretion for more information), managed by us and/or unaffiliated investment managers we recommend, and primarily through mutual funds and exchange traded funds that invest in equities, bonds, cash-equivalents, REITs, and other instruments.

When Raffa Wealth Management provides management services, the Firm typically requires clients open an account through the Schwab Institutional platform of Charles Schwab & Company, Inc. However, upon approval of Raffa Wealth Management, clients may direct the Firm to manage an account at a broker-dealer or other qualified custodian selected by the client. See Item 12 – Brokerage Practices for more information.

Raffa Wealth Management will provide investment consulting services that relate to matters such as allocation of assets among different classes, portfolio diversification, managing portfolio risk, and other general economic and financial topics. Account supervision is guided by the stated objectives of the client and all managed accounts will be maintained with an independent custodian.

The Firm employs an asset allocation strategy focused on the efficient-market theory and the Fama-French Three Factor Model.

Below are the guidelines that are followed when managing a client’s portfolio:

- Individual client investment objectives are identified by assessing the client's risk tolerance based upon their age, income, education, need for cash flows, investment goals, and emotional tolerance for volatility. The information provided by the client will be collected during client meetings, interviews, and/or questionnaires;
- Institutional (nonprofit or association) client investment objectives are identified by assessing the organization’s risk tolerance based upon the organization’s need for cash flows from the investment portfolio, investment goals, and emotional tolerance for volatility. The information provided by the client will be collected during client meetings, interviews, and/or questionnaires;
- Strategies are developed and implemented through a combination of stocks and bonds;

- Client circumstances are monitored and portfolio adjustments are made as appropriate to reflect significant changes in any or all of the above variables.

Raffa Wealth Management primarily invests client assets in open-ended mutual funds and exchange traded funds based on each client's specific financial objectives, time frames, and tolerance for volatility. Raffa Wealth Management (RWM) recommends the use of two third-party managers, Parametric and Breckenridge, to meet client preferences either to own bonds directly instead of through mutual funds or to restrict investment in companies that may conflict with the client's values. Raffa Wealth Management became aware of Parametric and Breckenridge while working with an outside consultant who provided research and due diligence in the selection of investment managers. RWM does not currently contract with any external consultant for manager research or due diligence. RWM continues to maintain the relationships with Parametric and Breckenridge and continues to perform due diligence related to their operations, management, regulatory standing, investment style and performance. RWM remains open to considering additional third-party managers and would conduct a search for a third-party manager if we believed that either Breckenridge or Parametric were failing to perform within RWM's range of expectation, made material changes to their investment styles or approach, or failed to meet RWM's standards related to operational execution, reasonableness of fees, manager skill, or regulatory deficiencies. Otherwise, the selection of outside third-party investment managers is not a service that is typically offered to all clients of our firm and we are not actively searching for third-party managers. The vast majority of our clients are invested in open-ended mutual funds and exchange traded funds. RWM's process related to the selection of Mutual Funds is outlined in Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss.

Third party investment managers recommended to clients will have full investment discretion, and trading authority, and shall have sole responsibility for the implementation of the investment program with respect to the client's account for which investment discretion has been delegated by the client and accepted by the institutional investment managers. We will not place orders for transactions in the client's account or otherwise exercise trading authority over the account at any time when the account is being managed by an investment manager.

Once the client has agreed to one or both of the recommended investment managers, Raffa Wealth Management will assist with the implementation of the portfolio, and continuously monitor the portfolio for performance, compliance with the investment guidelines, and material changes relating to the investment manager or mutual fund.

In connection with this process, Raffa Wealth Management will review the initial assumptions made with respect to appropriate portfolio risk levels. If the Firm believes that a particular investment manager is performing inadequately, or if we believe that a different investment manager is more suitable for a client's particular needs, then the Firm may recommend that the client contract with a different investment manager. If the client agrees, Raffa Wealth Management will implement the retention of the investment manager, and then monitor that adviser's performance.

Additional information about investment managers, investment strategies, advisory fees and other pertinent information is available and provided in the Form ADV Part 2 Disclosure Brochure of the investment managers. Clients should refer to the independent adviser's disclosure document for a full description of the services offered.

Neither Raffa Wealth Management nor any of its related persons receive any form of compensation from any recommended investment manager. No investment manager will be recommended to a client unless that manager is properly registered or exempt from registration in the client's state of residence.

Upon request, Raffa Wealth Management will provide clients with quarterly reports that will address asset allocation, securities holdings and account performance. Clients are able to include accounts not managed by Raffa Wealth Management in reports provided by the Firm. Under these situations, we will not have responsibility to review or provide advice regarding the account and it is the client's responsibility to inform us of additional accounts to be included in the report. For this service, Raffa Wealth Management may charge an additional fee of between 0.25% and 0.50% of the value of the accounts. Raffa Wealth Management may, at its discretion, charge a flat fee of between $500 and $2500 per quarter instead of the percentage of the account value. Raffa Wealth Management may, at its discretion, waive the fee charged for additional accounts related to this service. Please refer to Item 13 – Review of Accounts for more information.

Fees

Our compensation is derived as fee income based upon the percentage of the market value of all assets in a client's account on the last trading day of each calendar quarter. The compensation method is explained and agreed with the clients in advance before any services are rendered. The compensation for our services, which include developing and implementing an investment policy and objectives, formulating a quantitatively driven asset allocation analysis and recommendation, monitoring a client's investment results, selecting and monitoring mutual funds, ETFs, or third-party managers are as follows:

Asset Under Management	Fee
First $1,000,000	1.00%
Next $2,000,000	0.85%
Next $2,000,000	0.70%
Next $5,000,000	0.55%
Next $10,000,000	0.40%
Next $15,000,000	0.25%
In Excess of $35,000,000	0.10%

The amount of the fee is negotiated on a case by case basis with the client and is determined based upon a number of factors including the amount of work involved, the assets placed under management and the attention needed to manage the account. At the discretion of Raffa Wealth Management, the Firm may consider a fixed fee arrangement in lieu of a fluctuating asset based management fee as agreed to with the client. When fees are charged on a fixed basis, the Firm uses the fee schedule listed above, and considers other factors such as reporting needs and the frequency of client meetings, to determine the fee. The Firm shall charge a fixed fee based on a percentage of the client's assets under management at the beginning of the engagement, as well as other factors, but the fee may be adjusted to keep pace with inflation. The fixed fee will be divided into quarterly payments.

Raffa Wealth Management reserves the right to adjust the fees schedule as it deems appropriate. This may result in different fees being charged for similar services and may be less than the stated fee schedule. However, prior to increasing the standard fee schedule of a particular client, we will receive written acknowledgment from the client of the increased fee.

Fees charged by Raffa Wealth Management are separate and collected individually from fees charged by independent investment managers. Clients that have accounts managed by investment managers will also be subject to a fee charged by the investment manager; however, the total fee charged by the Firm and a recommended investment manager(s) will not exceed a total annual fee of 2.0%.

Investment advisory services begin with the effective date of the Agreement, which is the date the client signs the Investment Advisory Agreement. With the exception of the first billing cycle, fees are billed quarterly in advance based on the client's total combined Account balance as of the end of the prior quarter. The initial billing period begins the date the Agreement is signed. The initial fee is billed in arrears based on the total combined Account balance as of the end of the initial quarter. The amount due will be deducted pro-rata directly from the cash balance in the Account.

Fees will generally be deducted directly from the client's brokerage or custodial account pursuant to a written agreement between Raffa Wealth Management and the client. Raffa Wealth Management has instituted the following safeguards when advisory fees are deducted directly from a client's brokerage or custodial account; (i) adviser will obtain written authorization for the deduction of advisory fees from the client; the deduction of advisory fees will either be processed by Raffa, PC (a related accounting firm further described below) or directly by Raffa Wealth Management; (ii) each time a fee is deducted either Raffa, PC or Raffa Wealth Management will send the custodian notice of the amount of the fee to be deducted and concurrently an invoice will be sent to the client indicating the amount of the fee deducted from the account.

At the discretion of Raffa Wealth Management, the Firm may prepare and send a quarterly invoice to the client for collection of the fee in lieu of deducting the fee directly from the client's account.

Either Raffa Wealth Management or the client may terminate the Agreement with 30 days' notice. Notice of termination must be given to the other party in writing. Upon termination, the fees charged for advisory services will be pro-rated and a refund for any unearned fees will be issued. The client is responsible to pay for services rendered until the termination of the agreement. The client can cancel the Agreement without penalty within the first five business days after the signing of the Agreement.

Clients should be aware of their responsibility to verify the accuracy of the fee calculation submitted to the custodian by Raffa Wealth Management, as the custodian will not determine whether the fee has been properly calculated. Raffa Wealth Management will not be compensated on the basis of a share of capital gains upon or capital appreciation of the funds or any portion of the funds of the client. Advisory fees charged by the Firm are separate and distinct from fees and expenses charged by mutual funds, which may be recommended to clients. A description of these fees and expenses are available in each fund's prospectus.

These fees are for advisory services only and do not include other costs that the Client may incur including but not limited to transaction fees, commissions, or other custodial fees charged by the client's custodian.

Qualified Plan Consulting Services

Clients may engage Raffa Wealth Management to provide qualified retirement plan consulting services. Qualified retirement plan consulting services may include, but is not necessarily limited to, development and maintenance of model investment portfolios, recommendations regarding investment selection, educational presentations to Plan participants, and ability to consult on a one-on-one basis with Plan Participants. The exact suite of services provided to a client will be listed and detailed in the Qualified Retirement Plan Consulting Agreement.

Raffa Wealth Management's clients can choose to grant RWM trading authority or may choose to implement changes on their own. In the event client chooses to grant RWM trading authority, RWM will have a limited power of attorney to execute transactions on behalf of Client. Raffa Wealth Management will submit trade instructions to the designated third-party administrator based upon consultation and agreement from the plan trustees for Client. Client funds and assets will be held with a third-party broker/dealer that will serve as the client's qualified custodian. See Item 12 – Brokerage Practices for more information.

In the event a client contracts Raffa Wealth Management for one-on-one consulting services with Plan Participants, such services are consulting in nature and do not involve the Firm implementing recommendations in individual participant accounts. It will be the responsibility of each Participant to implement changes in their individual accounts.

Fees

Fees for qualified retirement plan consulting services may be calculated and billed in advance or in arrears each quarter. Fees are based on the total market value of the Plan at the close of the quarter. The maximum fee for qualified retirement plan consulting services is as follows:

Annual percentage	Plan Value
1.00%	1 st $1,000,000
0.75%	Next $2,000,000
0.50%	Next $2,000,000
0.35%	Next $5,000,000
0.15%	Next $15,000,000
0.10%	Over $25,000,000

The minimum annual fee is $2,500. . Upon request by a client, RWM will consider a fixed fee ranging from $2,500 to $50,000 annually for qualified retirement plan consulting services. The primary factors influencing the flat fee is the total plan assets and number of plan participants. Upon request by a client, RWM will consider a fee that is comprised of a combination of a fee paid by the Plan assets based on the market value of the Plan and some additional fixed fee paid directly by the client. The total fee charged by RWM will not exceed the schedule or range outline above.

The actual fee charged to a client will be noted in the Qualified Retirement Plan Consulting Agreement. Fees are generally deducted from the Plan by the custodian and paid to Raffa Wealth Management based upon the custodian's receipt of written authorization to have the fees deducted from the Client's account and paid to the Firm. If agreed to in advance and at the discretion of Raffa Wealth Management, the Firm may bill the Client directly rather than have fees automatically deducted from the Plan. For any Clients that the Firm bills directly, fees for our qualified retirement plan consulting services are due within 30 days after Client's receipt of the billing notice.

The Plan custodian will send statements to the Plan, at least quarterly, showing all disbursements from the Plan, including the amount of the advisory fee paid and when such fee is deducted directly from the Plan. Upon request, Raffa Wealth Management will send the Plan a fee billing notice showing the amount of the fee that will be deducted, the manner in which the fee was calculated, any adjustments to the fee and an explanation of such adjustments.

In addition to Raffa Wealth Management's compensation, the Client will also incur charges imposed at the mutual fund level (e.g., advisory fees and other fund expenses) and charges imposed by the Plan custodian and Third-Party Administrator (if applicable). Brokerage commissions and/or transaction ticket fees charged by the custodian will be billed directly to Client by the custodian. RWM will not receive any portion of such brokerage commissions or transaction fees from the custodian or Client. Service fees charged by RWM are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by investment company securities that may be recommended to Clients. A description of these fees and expenses are available in each investment company security's prospectus.

Either Client's authorized representative or Raffa Wealth Management may terminate the Qualified Retirement Plan Consulting Agreement with 30 days written notice to the other party. A refund of any unearned fees will be made based on the time expended by the Firm before termination. A full refund of any fees paid will be made if the agreement is terminated within five business days. The Qualified Retirement Plan Consulting Agreement terminates upon failure of the Client to pay Service Fees pursuant to the terms stated in that Agreement.

Investment Consulting Services

Raffa Wealth Management may provide financial and investment consultations on assets not managed or maintained by the Firm. Only accounts and portfolios of which Raffa Wealth Management is not the adviser of record and does not have trading authorization on the account are eligible for this service. This service is provided to both individual and non-profit organizations. All trade implementation under this service is the responsibility of the client. Raffa Wealth Management will not at any time have access to a client's funds, securities, or account(s) and therefore will not have authority to rebalance, reallocate or trade in the account. Client portfolios are reviewed based upon the client's specific needs and desires for future financial goals and/or objectives.

Raffa Wealth Management provides Investment Consulting Services that involve a review or draft of the client's Investment Policy Statement (IPS). When the client has a pre-existing IPS, the Firm may review the client's current holdings to establish the level of consistency with any guidelines and restrictions set forth in the IPS. To the extent a client does not have an IPS, Raffa Wealth Management can be engaged with to draft an IPS based on the client's investment mandates.

Another Investment Consulting service allows for Raffa Wealth Management to conduct a review of the client's current investment holdings including managers. We will review the portfolio performance against market benchmarks and provide an assessment of the portfolio's performance against the benchmark. Generally, we will not recommend the purchase or sale of specific investments, but will provide a rating or review of the overall performance of the portfolio.

Some of the following areas may be assessed as part of this service;

1. Investment Policies
2. Each portfolio's current asset allocation
3. The current risk profile of each portfolio
4. The current fee structure of each portfolio
5. Each portfolio's benchmark
6. Each mutual fund's benchmark

After Raffa Wealth Management has conducted its review, a report outlining the findings of the assessments will be provided.

Fees

Investment Consulting Services are provided on either a one-time basis for a flat fee or flat hourly rate, or an ongoing basis for a flat hourly, quarterly or annual fee. The amount of the flat fee is typically determined based on the number of hours estimated to meet the client's needs based on the scope of each engagement. Fees are often billed based on a flat hourly rate. The maximum fee charged for this service will generally not exceed $25,000. The actual fee charged to a client is determined by Raffa Wealth Management based on factors such as, but not limited to, the full nature and scope of the consulting engagement, the number of accounts being reviewed, the total amount of assets being reviewed, and the number of investment managers used by the client.

The fee will be quoted to the client prior to commencing services and listed in the agreement for services. A retainer based on a certain number of hours of work (typically 10 hours) or a certain portion of the total expected fee (typically half) will be due upon the client's execution of the agreement with the remaining one-half of the fees due at the time the service is completed and results are presented to the client.

Interest will be assessed at the rate of 1.5 percent per month on all balances outstanding for longer than 30 days. If turned over for collection, the client will pay Raffa Wealth Management the amounts outstanding plus any accrued interest and will reimburse the Firm for all costs of collection, including reasonable attorneys' fees and costs. In accordance with our policies, work may be suspended if a client's payment is 60 days or more overdue and services will not be resumed until client has paid in full. If Raffa Wealth Management elects to terminate its services for nonpayment, the written agreement will be deemed to have been completed upon written notification of termination, even if we have not completed the written assessment report. Clients will be obligated to compensate Raffa Wealth Management for all time expended and to reimburse the Firm for all out-of-pocket expenditures through the date of termination.

Clients are reminded that they may incur certain charges imposed by third parties other than Raffa Wealth Management in connection with their investment accounts. These fees include but not limited to, mutual fund and custodial fees. Consulting fees charged by Raffa Wealth Management are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by investment company securities that may be held by clients. A description of these fees and expenses are available in each investment company security's prospectus.

Investment Consulting Services shall terminate upon Raffa Wealth Management's completion and presentment of the written portfolio review assessment. In the event a client would like to terminate services prior to completion of the review, a full refund of all pre-paid fees will be provided to the client if services are terminated within 5 days after executing the agreement for services. After the initial 5 day period, the client will be responsible for any time incurred by Raffa Wealth Management prior to notification of termination is received.

Retirement Income Planning

RWM provides Retirement Income Planning services, upon request, to clients that are individuals or couples as part of the firm's overall portfolio management process. RWM does not charge separately for this service. The fee for this service is included in the fee related to RWM's Investment Supervisory Services.

The purpose of RWM's retirement income planning service is to help clients identify and sustain a prudent level of spending. We use a Monte Carlo simulation to stress test thousands of performance outcomes using historical risk and return assumptions. In doing so, we can help identify the probability that a given portfolio allocation and withdrawal rate will sustain the income necessary to last throughout a client's projected retirement.

Our effort to identify an appropriate spending level and asset allocation strategy involves analyzing a client's current level of assets, tolerance for risk and volatility, and the amount of any additional retirement income sources (such as social security and any pension income). We consider scenarios that reflect different potential savings rates, future spending levels, and possible retirement dates before making any recommendations.

Clients receive the firm's Retirement Income Planning service only upon request and the service is either provided "one-time" or ongoing at RWM's discretion. For client's receiving Retirement Income Planning on an ongoing basis, we will identify the ideal "glide path" that the portfolio value should travel through retirement. As the actual portfolio value deviates from the glide path, positively or negatively, we will talk to the client about the action they may consider remaining within their identified investment approach.

Fees

Clients are not charged additional fees for RWM's Retirement Income Planning Service. The fees for this service are paid as part of a client's fee for portfolio management services as described in the Investment Supervisory Services section.

Item 6 – Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

Item 6 of the Form ADV Part 2 instructions is not applicable to this Disclosure Brochure because Raffa Wealth Management does not charge or accept performance-based fees which are defined as fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets held within a client's account.

Item 7 – Types of Clients

Raffa Wealth Management generally provides its investment advice to individuals, not-for-profit organizations, foundations and other institutions, and qualified retirement plans.

All clients are required to execute an agreement for services in order to establish a client arrangement with Raffa Wealth Management and/or the sponsor of third-party money manager platforms.

Minimum Investment Amounts Required

- Generally, the minimum dollar value of assets required to set up an investment advisory account is $250,000. However, Raffa Wealth Management has discretion to waive the account minimum. Accounts of less than $250,000 may be set up when the client and Raffa Wealth Management anticipate the client will add additional funds to the accounts bringing the total to $250,000 within a reasonable time. Other exceptions will apply to employees of the Firm and their relatives, or relatives of existing clients.
- The minimum fixed fee generally charged for Investment consulting services is $2500.

Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Raffa Wealth Management uses the following methods of analysis in formulating investment advice.

RWM's approach to portfolio management is based on the importance of asset allocation in reflecting the client's willingness and ability to take risk. To make customized recommendations for the overall stock to bond asset allocation targets within a client's portfolio(s), RWM seeks to ascertain the individual or organization's ability and willingness to take risk.

With respect to selecting appropriate investment vehicles for inclusion in a fund line-up for a qualified retirement plan client, the Firm's primary method of analysis begins with a proprietary ranking system that screens available funds. The screening method evaluates approximately fifteen different factors related to each fund's holdings, fundamental characteristics, and historical risk and return. Once this screening process identifies top ranked funds in each asset class, the next step is a qualitative review of a fund's strategy. The goal in performing this analysis is to identify funds that will reliably deliver the performance of the asset class to which they are selected to provide exposure.

Some of the risks involved with using this method include the risk that the analysis will not identify the funds that perform best over any specific future time frame, that the funds fail to outperform the return of their asset class benchmark, and the funds lose value.

With respect to the investment vehicles utilized for the firm's continuous portfolio management clients, RWM uses mutual funds and exchange traded funds (ETFs) managed by the Vanguard Group and Dimensional Fund Advisors (DFA). RWM has been aware of the Vanguard Group since our inception based on the firm's size and reputation. Raffa Wealth Management became aware of DFA while working with an outside consultant who provided research and due diligence in the selection of mutual funds. RWM does not currently contract with any external consultant for manager research or due diligence. RWM continues to maintain the relationships with DFA and Vanguard and continues to perform due diligence related to their operations, management, regulatory standing, investment style and performance. RWM remains open to considering additional mutual fund providers and would not hesitate to replace either Vanguard or DFA funds if we believed that either were failing to perform within RWM's range of expectation, made material changes to their investment styles or approach, or failed to meet RWM's standards related to reasonableness of fees, manager skill, or regulatory deficiencies. Through RWM's ongoing mutual fund due diligence related to the firm's qualified retirement plan clients, RWM continues to evaluate a broad universe of mutual funds and remains open to replacing any of the mutual funds currently held in client accounts with mutual funds managed by a different provider if we believe doing so would be advantageous to the client. However, given how closely Raffa Wealth Management's investment philosophy is aligned with the management approach of the Vanguard Group and Dimensional Fund Advisors it's likely that Raffa Wealth Management's clients will remain primarily invested with these two mutual fund managers.

Raffa Wealth Management uses the following investment strategies when managing client assets and/or providing investment advice.

Raffa Wealth Management's strategy is to diversify completely so as to minimize unique business, sector, or country risks and to use a mix of stocks and bonds to deliver the optimal level of risk for each client. In implementing such a strategy, the Firm primarily uses passively managed mutual funds or exchange traded funds that seek to deliver or exceed the returns of the asset class benchmark to which they are providing exposure. Some of the risks involved with recommending mutual funds are general market risk. Some of the risks involved in recommending exchange traded funds are general market risks as well as liquidity or marketability risks in trading execution.

Raffa Wealth Management has developed investment model portfolios based on the Firm's asset allocation approach. Four central tenants form the basis for the approach:

1. Comprehensive market diversification minimizes the risks inherent in concentrating investments in relatively few companies, industries, sectors, or countries.
2. A portfolio's asset allocation determines its results. Emphasizing the risks inherent in small and value oriented companies can increase expected returns – commensurate with additional levels of risk.
3. The role of fixed income in a portfolio is to reduce overall volatility and high quality, shorter term bonds perform this function most effectively.
4. Investment fees detract directly from investment results. In an effort to maximize the potential for investment results, portfolios should reduce unnecessary expenses – meaning those associated with speculation and market-timing.

Such a broadly diversified, precise, and efficient approach seeks to deliver the optimal level of risk for each client in pursuit of their long term investment goals.

The risks inherent in such a strategy are the risks of investing in general – which involve the potential for market losses. Investing in small company stocks, stocks with a value orientation, and stock from emerging market countries carry additional risks and may lose value more sharply and to a greater extent during down periods in the market. Investing in fixed income securities involves credit risk including the risk of default and interest rate risk.

In addition, we use some of the following general investment strategies when providing advice and managing accounts.

- Long term purchases - Investments held at least a year.
- Short term purchases - Investments sold within a year.
- Tactical asset allocation. Allows for a range of percentages in each asset class (such as Stocks = 40-50%). These are minimum and maximum acceptable percentages that permit the investor to take advantage of market conditions within these parameters. Thus, a minor form of market timing is possible, since the investor can move to the higher end of the range when stocks are expected to do better and to the lower end when the economic outlook is bleak.
- Strategic asset allocation. Calls for setting target allocations and then periodically rebalancing the portfolio back to those targets as investment returns skew the original asset allocation percentages. The concept is akin to a "buy and hold" strategy, rather than an active trading approach. Of course, the strategic asset allocation targets may change over time as the client's goals and needs change and as the time horizon for major events such as retirement and college funding grow shorter.

Major strategic investment decisions are supported by the firm's External Investment Committee (the Committee), which is comprised of a group (5-7) of industry professionals and collegiate academics. The Committee meets as a group on an as needed basis and specific members may be consulted throughout the year based on their area of expertise. The Committee did not meet in 2017. Prior to 2017, the EIC had been meeting annually. The EIC will meet in 2018 and ongoing on an as-needed basis. The strategic recommendations made by the EIC are not client specific but relate broadly to the firm's overall investment strategy. This enables the Committee to focus on generalized and impersonal investment decisions. Committee members not affiliated with Raffa Wealth Management do not receive specific client information unless the client has authorized Raffa Wealth Management to share the client's information with the Committee. Committee members not affiliated with Raffa Wealth Management may or may not be affiliated with other investment advisory firms, but they are not investment advisory representatives of Raffa Wealth Management. Committee members are compensated by Raffa Wealth Management and therefore indirectly compensated by client fees paid to Raffa Wealth Management. However, Raffa Wealth Management's use of an investment committee does not increase the overall fees charged to clients.

Risk of Loss

Clients must understand that past performance is not indicative of future results. Therefore, current and prospective clients (including you) should never assume that future performance of any specific investment or investment strategy will be profitable. Investing in securities (including stocks, mutual funds, and bonds) involves risk of loss. Further, depending on the different types of investments there may be varying degrees of risk. Clients and prospective clients should be prepared to bear investment loss including loss of original principal.

Because of the inherent risk of loss associated with investing, our Firm is unable to represent, guarantee, or even imply that our services and methods of analysis can or will predict future results, successfully identify market tops or bottoms, or insulate you from losses due to market corrections or declines. There are certain additional risks associated when investing in securities through our investment management program.

- Market Risk – Either the stock market as a whole, or the value of an individual company, goes down resulting in a decrease in the value of client investments. This is also referred to as systemic risk.
- Equity (stock) market risk – Common stocks are susceptible to general stock market fluctuations and to volatile increases and decreases in value as market confidence in and perceptions of their issuers change. If you held common stock, or common stock equivalents, of any given issuer, you would generally be exposed to greater risk than if you held preferred stocks and debt obligations of the issuer.
- Company Risk. When investing in stock positions, there is always a certain level of company or industry specific risk that is inherent in each investment. This is also referred to as unsystematic risk and can be reduced through appropriate diversification. There is the risk that the company will perform poorly or have its value reduced based on factors specific to the company or its industry. For example, if a company's employees go on strike or the company receives unfavorable media attention for its actions, the value of the company may be reduced.

- Fixed Income Risk. When investing in bonds, there is the risk that issuer will default on the bond and be unable to make payments. Further, individuals who depend on set amounts of periodically paid income face the risk that inflation will erode their spending power. Fixed-income investors receive set, regular payments that face the same inflation risk.
- Options Risk. Options on securities may be subject to greater fluctuations in value than an investment in the underlying securities. Purchasing and writing put and call options are highly specialized activities and entail greater than ordinary investment risks.
- ETF and Mutual Fund Risk – When our Firm invests in a an ETF or mutual fund, it will bear additional expenses based on its pro rata share of the ETFs or mutual fund’s operating expenses, including the potential duplication of management fees. The risk of owning an ETF or mutual fund generally reflects the risks of owning the underlying securities the ETF or mutual fund holds. Clients will also incur brokerage costs when purchasing ETFs.
- Management Risk – Your investment with our Firm varies with the success and failure of our investment strategies, research, analysis and determination of portfolio securities. If our investment strategies do not produce the expected returns, the value of the investment will decrease.

Item 9 – Disciplinary Information

This item is not applicable to our brochure because there are no legal or disciplinary events listed at Item 9 of the Form ADV Part 2 instructions that are material to a client’s or prospective client’s evaluation of our business or integrity.

Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Raffa Wealth Management is an investment advisory firm and only provides investment advisory services. The Firm is not engaged in any other business activities and offers no other services than those described in this Disclosure Brochure. Raffa Wealth Management is not and does not have a related company that is a (1) broker/dealer, municipal securities dealer, government securities dealer or broker, (2) investment company or other pooled investment vehicle (including a mutual fund, closed-end investment company, unit investment trust, private investment company or “hedge fund,” and offshore fund), (3) other investment adviser or financial planner, (4) futures commission merchant, commodity pool operator, or commodity trading advisor, (5) banking or thrift institution, (6) lawyer or law firm, (7) pension consultant, (8) real estate broker or dealer, or (9) sponsor or syndicator of limited partnerships.

While Raffa Wealth Management does not sell products or services other than investment advice, Raffa Wealth Management’s related persons, Mr. Thomas Raffa and Mr. Steven Heger, are also principals of related entities.

Affiliated Companies and Principal’s Other Business Activities

Mr. Thomas Raffa is a principal for Raffa, PC, which provides professional consulting, accounting, and technology services, and Raffa Financial Services, Inc. which provides insurance products. The majority of Raffa Wealth Management's clients will be acquired through referrals from Raffa, PC. Raffa Wealth Management may also refer clients to the other Raffa related firms. There is no fee-paying arrangement in existence for the referral of clients between Raffa related entities. However, each Raffa entity has an economic incentive to refer clients among the accounting, insurance and advisory firms because the three firms are related entities (i.e. under common ownership).

Mr. Raffa divides his time among the business activities related to the three related entities.

Mr. Steven Heger is a principal in Raffa Financial Services, Inc. He is a licensed insurance agent and also a registered representative of LPL Financial registered broker-dealer, member FINRA/SIPC. Mr. Heger is also an investment advisor representative of LPL. He is also an investment adviser representative with Global Retirement Partners LLC (GRP).

Mr. Heger spends nearly 100% of his time on the business activities related to Raffa Financial Services, Inc. and his affiliation with LPL and GRP. Although Mr. Heger is a part owner of Raffa Wealth Management; he does not provide investment advice to clients of the Firm. Mr. Heger is not involved in the day-to-day operations of Raffa Wealth Management nor does he make decisions regarding the Firm's business operations and advisory services. However, we may refer clients to Mr. Heger and he may refer his clients to Raffa Wealth Management. Please understand you are never obligated or required to work with Mr. Heger in his separate capacity as a licensed insurance agent, as a LPL registered representative/investment adviser representative or Global Retirement Partners LLC investment adviser representative. Moreover, Mr. Heger's clients are not obligated or required to work with Raffa Wealth Management and may work with any financial professional they choose.

Mr. Dennis P. Gogarty is licensed as an insurance agent. If you are in need of insurance products, he may refer you to Raffa Financial Services. Please refer to Mr. Gogarty's Form ADV Part 2B Brochure Supplement available towards the back of this brochure for details regarding Mr. Gogarty's arrangement with Raffa Financial Services and share of commissions he earns.

Selection of other Investment Managers

As described in Item 5 – Fees and Compensation, Raffa Wealth Management may refer clients to third-party investment managers depending on each client's individual financial needs and circumstances.

Unlike many investment advisors that refer their clients to third-party managers, when we refer clients to a third-party manager, we will not receive a referral or solicitor fee from the third-party manager. Nor will we receive any portion of the fee charged by the third-party manager to the client. Therefore, our recommendations of third-party managers are based solely on our evaluation criteria and each client's individual needs and not based on compensation we could receive.

Item 11 – Code of Ethics, Participation in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Raffa Wealth Management, its principals and employees may, on a limited basis, purchase securities for their personal accounts which may also be recommended to clients. Although related persons invest in the same securities that the Firm recommends to clients, the nature of the investment vehicles used by the Firm greatly reduces the conflicts that arise in connection with personal trading. To further avoid any potential conflicts of interest involving personal trades, Raffa Wealth Management has adopted a formal code of ethics (the "Code") which includes a personal securities transaction and insider trading policies and procedures. Adviser's Code requires, among other things, that employees:

- Act with integrity, competence, diligence, respect, and in an ethical manner with the public, clients, prospective clients, employers, employees, colleagues in the investment profession, and other participants in the global capital markets;
- Place the integrity of the investment profession, the interests of clients, and the interests of Raffa Wealth Management above one's own personal interests;
- Adhere to the fundamental standard that you should not take inappropriate advantage of your position;
- Avoid any actual or potential conflict of interest;
- Conduct all personal securities transactions in a manner consistent with this policy;
- Use reasonable care and exercise independent professional judgment when conducting investment analysis, making investment recommendations, taking investment actions, and engaging in other professional activities;
- Practice and encourage others to practice in a professional and ethical manner that will reflect credit on yourself and the profession;
- Promote the integrity of, and uphold the rules governing, capital markets;
- Maintain and improve your professional competence and strive to maintain and improve the competence of other investment professionals.
- Comply with applicable provisions of the federal securities laws.

Raffa Wealth Management's Code also requires employees to: 1) pre-clear personal securities transactions involving private placements and initial public offerings, 2) report personal securities transactions on at least a quarterly basis, and 3) provide the Firm with a detailed summary of certain holdings (both initially upon commencement of employment and annually thereafter) over which such employees have a direct or indirect beneficial interest.

This disclosure is provided to give all clients a summary of Raffa Wealth Management's Code of Ethics. However, if a client or a potential client wishes to review the Firm's Code of Ethics in its entirety, a copy will be provided promptly upon request.

Item 12 – Brokerage Practices

In the course of providing our services, Raffa Wealth Management will execute trades for our clients through broker-dealers recommend by the Firm. Our general guiding principle is to trade through broker-dealers who offer the best overall execution under the particular circumstances. With respect to execution, Raffa Wealth Management considers a number of factors, including if the broker has custody of client assets, the actual handling of the order, the ability of the broker-dealer to settle the trade promptly and accurately, the financial standing of the broker-dealer, the ability of the broker-dealer to position stock to facilitate execution, our past experience with similar trades, and other factors which may be unique to a particular order. Based on these judgmental factors, we may trade through broker-dealers that charge fees that are higher than the lowest available fees.

Absent an existing brokerage relationship Raffa Wealth Management will assist the client with developing a relationship with the Institutional Division of Charles Schwab & Company, Inc. (Charles Schwab).

In the event the client directs Raffa Wealth Management to use a particular broker dealer other than Charles Schwab, the Firm and/or investment manager may be unable to negotiate commissions and to obtain volume discounts or best execution. In such circumstances, Client is responsible for negotiating the terms and arrangements for the Account with that broker or dealer. Raffa Wealth Management will not seek better execution services or prices from other broker-dealers or be able to aggregate Client's transactions, for execution through other brokers or dealers, with orders for other accounts advised or managed by the Firm. As a result, the Firm may not obtain best execution on behalf of Client, who may pay materially disparate commissions, greater spreads or other transaction costs, or receive less favorable net prices on transactions for the Account than would otherwise be the case.

Raffa Wealth Management is not obligated to acquire for any account any security that we or our officers, partners, members or employees may acquire for their own accounts or for the account of any other client, if in the Firm's absolute discretion it is not practical or desirable to acquire a position in such security.

Raffa Wealth Management recommends the use of Charles Schwab based on the services provided by Charles Schwab, such as ability to execute trades, margin rates, on-line access to accounts, transaction charges, duplicate monthly statements, access to mutual funds.

As part of the institutional programs offered by Charles Schwab, Raffa Wealth Management receives benefits that it would not receive if it did not provide investment advice to clients. While there is no direct affiliation or fee sharing arrangement between Schwab and Raffa Wealth Management, economic benefits are received by the Firm which would not be received if we did not have an established relationship with these companies. These benefits do not depend on the amount of transactions directed by the Firm to Charles Schwab. These benefits may include: a dedicated trading desk that services the Firm's clients, a dedicated service group and an account services manager dedicated to the Firm's accounts, access to a real time order matching system, ability to block client trades, electronic download of trades, portfolio management software, access to an electronic interface, duplicate and batched client statements, confirmations and year-end summaries, the ability to have advisory fees directly debited from client accounts (in accordance with federal and state requirements), a quarterly newsletter, access to mutual funds, ability to have loads waived for the Firm's clients who invest in certain loaded funds when certain conditions are met and maintained, and the ability to have custody fees waived.

Although many of the services and benefits we receive from Charles Schwab benefit our clients or benefit their accounts, there are some services that benefit only our firm because they are intended to help us manage and further develop our business enterprise. These services include:

1. Educational conferences and events including those sponsored by Charles Schwab such as their IMPACT Conference; and
2. Publications and conferences on practice management and business succession.

Charles Schwab may provide some of these services itself. In other cases, it will arrange for third-party vendors to provide the services to us. Charles Schwab may also discount or waive its fees for some of these services or pay all or a part of a third party's fees. Charles Schwab may also provide us with other benefits such as occasional business entertainment of our personnel.

Our Interest in Schwab's Services

The availability of these services from Charles Schwab benefits us because we do not have to produce or purchase them. We don't have to pay for Charles Schwab's services so long as we keep a total of at least $10 million of client assets in accounts at Schwab. Beyond that, these services are not contingent upon us committing any specific amount of business to Schwab in trading commissions or assets in custody. The $10 million minimum may give us an incentive to recommend or request that you maintain your account with Charles Schwab based on our interest in receiving Charles Schwab's services that benefit our business rather than based on your interest in receiving the best value in custody services and the most favorable execution of your transactions. This is a potential conflict of interest. We believe, however, that our selection of Charles Schwab as custodian and broker is made in the best interests of our clients. It is primarily supported by the scope, quality and price of Charles Schwab's services as previously described above and not Charles Schwab's services that benefit only us. We have over $400 million in client assets under management and do not believe that maintaining at least $10 million of those assets at Charles Schwab in order to avoid paying Charles Schwab quarterly service fees presents a material conflict of interest.

Handling of Trade Errors.

Raffa Wealth Management has implemented procedures designed to prevent trade errors; however, trade errors in client accounts cannot always be avoided. Consistent with its fiduciary duty, it is the policy of Raffa Wealth Management to correct trade errors in a manner that is in the best interest of the client. In cases where the client causes the trade error, the client will be responsible for any loss resulting from the correction. Depending on the specific circumstances of the trade error, the client may not be able to receive any gains generated as a result of the error correction. In all situations where the client does not cause the trade error, the client will be made whole and any loss resulting from the trade error will be absorbed by Raffa Wealth Management if the error was caused by the Firm. If the error is caused by the broker-dealer, the broker-dealer will be responsible for covering all trade error costs. If an investment gain results from the correcting trade, the gain will remain in the client's account unless the same error involved other client account(s) that should also receive the gains and it is not permissible for all clients to retain the gain. Raffa Wealth Management may also confer with clients to determine if the client should forego the gain (e.g., due to tax reasons). Raffa Wealth Management will never benefit or profit from trade errors.

Trading Policy

Our trading policy is to implement all client orders on an individual basis. Therefore, we do not aggregate or "block" client transactions. Considering the types of investments we hold in advisory client accounts, we do not believe clients are hindered in any way because we trade accounts individually. This is because we develop individualized investment strategies for clients and holdings will vary. Further, the investments we are responsible for trading in client accounts are typically limited to mutual funds, ETFs, and other broadly traded positions. Our strategies are primarily developed for the long-term and minor differences in price execution are not material to our overall investment strategy.

Item 13 – Review of Accounts

Investment Account Reviews and Reviewers

Generally, client accounts are reviewed on a quarterly basis by Mark Murphy, Chief Investment Officer. Considerations taken into account during the review include, but may not be limited to, asset allocation, risk profile, performance and unusual anomalies. Significant market fluctuations, changes in a client's financial circumstances or substantial contributions or withdrawals in a client's account are factors that may trigger a review.

Retirement Income Planning Reviews

Clients receiving on-going retirement income planning services will receive updates to their income plan upon request or as part of the regular review of their investment portfolio with Raffa Wealth Management. Dennis P. Gogarty, Mark Murphy, or Ryan Frydenlund is responsible for preparing retirement income plans.

Statements and Reports

Raffa Wealth Management sends clients an update of their portfolio activity and performance on a monthly basis. In addition, client may receive an additional performance evaluation report, upon request, which will address asset allocation, securities holdings and account performance. Such reports may be provided on a quarterly or as-needed basis as determined by Raffa Wealth Management or requested by the client. Clients are able to include accounts not managed by the Firm in reports provided by the Firm. Under these situations, we will not have responsibility to review or provide advice regarding the account and it is the client's responsibility to inform us of additional accounts to be included in the report.

Clients will also receive quarterly account statements directly from their qualified custodian (e.g. broker/dealer). Raffa Wealth Management strongly urges all clients to closely review all account statements received from qualified custodians. Further, clients are urged to compare the statements received from qualified custodians against the statements and reports generated by the Firm.

Item 14 – Client Referrals and Other Compensation

- Raffa Wealth Management does not directly or indirectly compensate anybody for client referrals.
- Please refer to the description of benefits from broker/dealers described in Item 12 of this Disclosure Brochure. Such benefits can be considered other compensation.
- Raffa Wealth Management's associated persons in their capacities as independent insurance agents and affiliates of Raffa Financial Services may receive commissions and other incentive awards for the recommendation/sale of annuities and other insurance products. The receipt of this compensation may affect the judgment of Raffa Financial Services and Raffa Wealth Management's associated persons when recommending products to its clients. While Raffa Wealth Management's associated persons endeavor at all time to put the interest of the clients first as a part of the Firm's fiduciary duty, clients should be aware that the receipt of commission and additional compensation itself creates a conflict of interest, and may affect the judgment of Raffa Financial Services and these individuals when making recommendations.

Item 15 – Custody

Custody, as it applies to investment advisors, has been defined by the SEC as having access or control over client funds and/or securities. In other words, custody is not limited to physically holding client funds and securities. If an investment advisor has the ability to access or control client funds or securities, the investment advisor is deemed to have custody and must ensure proper procedures are implemented.

Raffa PC provides Chief Financial Officer (CFO) services to certain clients of Raffa Wealth Management. Such services can result in Raffa, PC, its owners, or employees having access or control over client assets held at a bank or other third-party. These services result in Raffa, PC having custody (as that term has been defined by the SEC) of Raffa Wealth Management's client assets. However, services resulting in custody that are performed by Raffa, PC, its owners, or employees are NOT imputed to the Firm, and therefore Raffa Wealth Management is NOT deemed to have custody of client assets for which Raffa, PC, its owners, or its employees provide CFO services. This is because Raffa, PC's CFO services will never result in Raffa, PC having custody of funds or assets managed by Raffa Wealth Management or funds and assets that otherwise fall under the services provided by the Firm. Clients of the Firm that are also clients of Raffa, PC are charged separately for Raffa, PC accounting services, including its CFO services. Raffa Wealth Management's fees are in addition to fees charged for Raffa, PC accounting services.

Raffa Wealth Management is generally given the authority from clients to allow Raffa, PC the ability to deduct advisory fees directly from client accounts. Such authority is deemed to be custody as defined by the SEC. Raffa Wealth Management is also deemed to have custody of client funds and securities when Raffa Wealth Management has standing authority (also known as a standing letter of authorization or "SLOA") to move money from a client's account to a third-party account. Raffa Wealth Management has established procedures to ensure all client funds and securities are held at a qualified custodian in a separate account for each client under that client's name. Clients or an independent representative of the client (other than an affiliated person of Adviser, Raffa, PC, or Raffa Financial Services) are also notified, in writing of the qualified custodian's name, address and the manner in which the funds or securities are maintained, promptly when the account is opened and following any changes. Finally, account statements are delivered directly from the qualified custodian to each client, or the client's independent representative (other than an affiliated person of Adviser, Raffa & Associates, or Raffa Financial Services), at least quarterly. Clients are strongly urged to compare any statements or reports from Raffa Wealth Management against the account statements received directly from qualified custodians.

Item 16 – Investment Discretion

Through its investment supervisory services and upon receiving written authorization from a client, Raffa Wealth Management will maintain trading authorization over client accounts. Upon receiving written authorization from the client, the Firm may implement trades on a discretionary basis. When discretionary authority is granted, the Firm will have the authority to determine the type of securities and the amount of securities that can be bought or sold for the client's portfolio without obtaining the client's consent for each transaction. However, it is the policy of Raffa Wealth Management to consult with the client prior to making significant changes in the account even when discretionary trading authority is granted by the client.

If you decide to grant trading authorization on a non-discretionary basis, we will be required to contact you prior to implementing changes in your account. Therefore, you will be contacted and required to accept or reject our investment recommendations including:

- The security being recommended
- The number of shares or units
- Whether to buy or sell

Once the above factors are agreed upon, we will be responsible for making decisions regarding the timing of buying or selling an investment and the price at which the investment is bought or sold. If your accounts are managed on a non-discretionary basis, you need to know that if you are not able to be reached or are slow to respond to our request, it can have an adverse impact on the timing of trade implementations and we may not achieve the optimal trading price.

All clients have the ability to place reasonable restrictions on the types of investments that may be purchased in an account. Clients may also place reasonable limitations on the discretionary power granted to our Firm so long as the limitations are specifically set forth or included as an attachment to the client agreement.

Item 17 – Voting Client Securities

Raffa Wealth Management will not vote proxies on behalf of your account. While there are some investment advisors that will vote proxies and other corporate decisions on behalf of their clients, we have determined that taking on the responsibility for voting client securities does not add enough value to the services provided to clients to justify the additional compliance and regulatory costs associated with voting client securities. Therefore, it is your responsibility to vote all proxies for securities held in accounts managed by our Firm.

Clients will receive proxies directly from their custodian or transfer agent and such documents will not be delivered by our Firm. Although we do not vote client proxies, if you have a question about a particular proxy feel free to contact us.

Item 18 – Financial Information

This item is not applicable to this brochure. Raffa Wealth Management does not require or solicit prepayment of more than $1200 in fees per client, six months or more in advance. Therefore, we are not required to include a balance sheet for our most recent fiscal year. We are not subject to a financial condition that is reasonably likely to impair our ability to meet contractual commitments to clients. Finally, we have not been the subject of a bankruptcy petition at any time.

Item 4 – Other Business Activities

Mr. Gogarty is independently licensed as an insurance agent. Although licensed, Mr. Gogarty's practice does not actively involve selling insurance products to clients. Instead, Mr. Gogarty will refer clients in need of insurance products to Raffa Financial Services. Mr. Gogarty has an arrangement with Raffa Financial Services to receive a portion of the commissions earned from insurance products sold to his clients through Raffa Financial Services. The receipt of compensation may affect the judgment of Mr. Gogarty when recommending Raffa Financial Services and providing insurance advice, in general, to his clients. While Mr. Gogarty endeavors at all times to put the interest of his clients first as a part of Raffa Wealth Management's overall fiduciary duty to clients, clients should be aware that the receipt of commissions itself creates a conflict of interest, and may affect Mr. Gogarty's decision making process when making recommendations. Clients are never obligated or required to purchase insurance products from or through Raffa Financial Services and may choose any independent insurance agent and insurance company to purchase insurance products. Regardless of the insurance agent selected, the insurance agent or agency will receive normal commissions from the sale.

Item 5 – Additional Compensation

Mr. Gogarty does not receive compensation in addition to the fees described in Item 5 and benefits described in Item 14 of this Disclosure Brochure. As disclosed in Item 4 above, Mr. Gogarty will receive a portion of the insurance commissions earned by Raffa Financial Services when selling insurance products.

Item 6 – Supervision

Mr. Gogarty is the Chief Compliance Officer of Raffa Wealth Management and ultimately responsible for supervising activities and services provided by the Firm. Investment accounts and investment programs are reviewed as frequently as weekly.
